

INTERNSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Make history working with the first Black worker center in CA and a leading voice on Black work and economic justice.

The LA Black Worker Center develops organized power among Black workers to reverse the disproportionate levels of unemployment and underemployment in the Black community. The LABWC seeks social and economic justice, peace, and prosperity for all of Los Angeles by changing public policies and corporate practices that perpetuate inequality in the labor market and promote inferior employment in the Black community. The Center is located in South Los Angeles in the Crenshaw corridor.

AVAILABLE POSITIONS

Community Organizing Intern

- Help empower workers and community residents to become leaders in making change through community outreach, political education training, and action in grassroots economic and racial justice campaigns!

Communications/Design Intern

- Take photos of the LABWC in action; design flyers and other outreach materials; help manage LABWC social media pages and grow our following!

This is an unpaid internship with possibility to earn academic credit.*

QUALIFICATIONS

- Commitment to principles of racial and economic justice, community-based leadership, and Black worker empowerment
- Proficient in verbal and written communication.
- For communications positions, ideal candidates should have experience in design and working in social media platforms such as Twitter, Facebook, and Instagram.
- Ability to intern a minimum of 10 weeks and 10 hours/week.

TO APPLY

Email resume to lmorris@lblackworkercenter.org.