Dr. Gabriella Hancock’s Publications

Refereed Publications

11) Hancock, P.A., & Hancock, G.M. (2014). The effects of age, sex, body temperature, heart rate, and time of day on the perception of time in life. Time & Society, 23(2), 195-211.

Chapters

1) Hancock, G.M. (In press). Psychophysical equivalence of static versus dynamic stimuli in a two alternative forced choice detection task. In: H. Ayaz & F. Dehais (Eds.), Neuroergonomics: The Brain at Work and in Everyday Life. Elsevier, Amsterdam, the Netherlands.

5) Hancock, P.A. & Hancock, G. M. (2007). Is there a superhero in all of us? In: G. Yeffreth (Ed.) The psychology of superheroes. (pp. 105-117), Benbella Books: Dallas, TX.

Professional Publications

2) Hughes, A.M., Blickensderfer, B., Hancock, G.M., Sanders, T., & Doutcheva, N.* (2017). RSVP to the women’s mentoring and networking lunch. HFES Bulletin, 60(9).

4) Hancock, P.A. & Hancock, G.M. (2017). In Dublin’s fair city – workload is alive, alive-o. HFES Bulletin, 60(8).

11) Hancock, G.M. (2010). The day technology died. Accessible at: http://www.90soccer.com/first-touch/the-day-technology-died/

12) Hancock, G. M. (2010). Another travesty paves the way for goal line technology: How many more will it take? Accessible at: http://www.90soccer.com/first-touch/another-travesty-paves-the-way-for-goal-line-technology-how-many-more-will-it-take/

Technical Reports